

Tracking Link

Weather Forecast

Agenda of the day

- 10am - 10pm Opening bar
- 10:30am Briefing of the riders
- 12am Warning signal - Orange buoy
- 2pm Opening of the village and games
- 6pm Debriefing of the races by Christian Karcher, return of the riders
- 7pm Award ceremony
- 8pm Kafi Band

Determination and tight manoeuvres around the buoys

The second day of J80 European racing at Saint-Cast-le-Guildo showed once again just how determined the crews are, with some very tight manoeuvres at the different buoys. Some boats actually scraped together.

Three French crews on the day's podium

The French crews struck hard on Tuesday, the second day of racing of the J80 European championship held at Saint-Cast-le-Guildo. Simon Moriceau on Armen Habitat - PL Yachting, already at the top of the provisional leader board the previous day, won the first race of the day. Patrick Bot on Ecole Navale Locaponton just pipped him at the post in the second race. Pierre Laouenan on Elite Ecole Navale - Team Custo Pol ended the day in the lead. It was a fitting birthday present for Philippe Michel, National Technical Consultant for the FFV and coach of these three teams. After six races, Moriceau is overall leader, followed by Laouenan. The Spanish crew on Enbata 80, skippered by Almandoz Iker, is third.

Volunteers of the day: Servane & Alain

"I am a volunteer and former president of the Nautical Centre. I am responsible for the IT ranking on the European J80 2022. I use the FREG tool of the French sailing federation which is essential to export and publish the various results of the race. My role starts around 9am, I go through the decisions of the jury of the previous day and I examine the files of the crews who protested. I thus update the relevant races, the general ranking on the scoreboard that become final after jury decision. Finally, after each end of a round, a member of the race committee sends me by smartphone a copy of the results that we enter in the FREG software with my partner Servane with whom we share the roles between the morning and the evening. Finally, we show the results of the preliminary round by sending a PDF to the communication team, which allows us to instantly publish on the website", explains Alain, from his office at the Saint Cast nautical centre.

Le programme de la semaine

↓ Follow us ↓

Nos partenaires :

